Mothers March In January

The new "March of Dimes" will be held in January, with the traditional "Mothers March" coming Jan. 26.

Again this year, Bruce Dodd of Summer St. is Andover chairman for the March.

Sponsored by the National Foundation, the March raises funds to meet continuing responsibilities towards polio victims, and for research in the fields of arthritis and birth defects.

Last year, Andover contributed $5,120 to the annual campaign, under Mr. Dodd's chairmanship. A polio victim himself, Mr. Dodd anticipates that a full complement of precinct chairmen and workers will be named shortly.

Met Last Night On Teen Center

A Committee of young people and adults - all with the single goal of establishing a teen-age center in Andover - met last night at the Central School auditorium.

Under the adult chairmanship of Mrs. John Birdsall, there have been several previous meetings to discuss the proposal, which was one of the prime suggestions contained in the Recreation Council's summer questionnaire.

The session last night was called to discuss the methods of accomplishing the goal. Committees have been established to work on finances, by-laws, location and other details of the center.

Among the adults expressing an interest in the project are James J. Neil, William R. Hickey, and Mrs. Percy Beasley, Mrs. Cole and Peter Soderberg. Young people serving on various committees include Malcolm Sand, Judy Parshly, Bob Young, Roversi, Doug Howe Jr., Fran, Susan Wennik, Joan Le-

Restriction Proposed By Local Sportsman's Club

Bannister Rd. Ruled Public

Bannister rd. - a street in Ballardvale that has been the subject of much controversy - has been declared a public way by special counsel for the town, Arthur A. Williams.

In a long memorandum to the Selectmen, Mr. Williams noted that the road was a public highway prior to the year 1830 and has never been abandoned by the town. Moreover, he found that the road has become public by its long, continued use by the public.

Mr. Williams was appointed special counsel for the town after Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien asked to be relieved of this duty. He had appeared in court as lawyer for one of the individuals concerned in a civil case involving this road. Atty. Williams' decision apparently makes it possible for the town to install drainage in the street, thus clearing up much of the pro-

The Andover Sportsman's Club will take the lead in proposing a limitation on hunting in Andover, with the suggestion that hunting be allowed only with the written permission of the land owner.

An article will be filed in the annual warrant to give the voters an opportunity to vote on the proposal.

The Club's decision is based on the fact that offenders, about whom there have been many complaints, come from out of town. None of them have been members of the Club, it has been pointed out.

The restriction will make it easier for enforcement officers, the Club feels, to take action. Under present conditions, a property owner must file and sign a complaint against an offender.

The posting of signs, stressing the restriction, at all entrances to the town would have the effect of discouraging many hunters from out of town, according to the Club. Thus, local residents would have the chance to hunt in their own

Cole Feted By Town Employees

Town hall friends of Arthur W. Cole gathered last Thursday afternoon to wish him well during his retirement. Mr. Cole has been welfare agent for many years.

In a statement signed by Welfare Board chairman Joseph Serio Jr., Mr. Cole was lauded for his years of devotion to the department. The statement read:

"At a meeting of the Board of Welfare, it was unanimously voted that the Board, in the name of the Town of Andover, and in its own right, convey to Arthur W. Cole, director of public assistance for the town of Andover, its deep appreciation of the many years of faithful service to the town.

"The motion was on the occasion of noting his impending retirement from public service. It was further noted that in his long years of service to the town, he has established a record for public service that has earned him the respect and admiration of all those who have had contact with him. "The Board wished him God-speed and a happy and fruitful life of retirement."

Holiday greetings were received from relatives of Lt. Commander C. Edmonds, U.S. Navy, who was sent there early in 1959. In a note with one of the greetings, the writer stated that the temperature was a little more comfortable than it had dropped from 120 degrees to 86. In a note with one of the greetings, the writer stated that the temperature was very cold, and the people must wear heavy outer garments.

Although the children are going to American schools, they are learning Arabic among other languages, and are seeing many phases of life. Commander Edmonds has been in the Service for over 25 years, four of which were as an enlistee. He was graduated from Andover in December, 1941, just after the attack on Pearl Harbor, and served duty all through World War II. After the war, he was stationed in Japan for a year. Later he and his family, which includes four daughters, were in France, so he has seen much of the world in his years of duty. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Holiday greetings were received from relatives of Lt. Commander Edmonds, U. S. Navy, this week from half way across the world, when a package arrived from Saudi Arabia where the Commander is stationed.

The Selectmen and Manager Thomas E. Duff decided to prepare the articles - $40,000 for a 12-inch water line and $37,000 for a sewer up Lovejoy rd. - although the School Building Committee has not had an opportunity to decide on sanitary facilities will be needed for the school. It was pointed out that the Committee had found that an on-site plant is for the disposal of sewage, a small pump should be used, the sewer line being installed at a shallower depth than would otherwise be required. But if the plan is to have sewerage, the Selectmen wanted to have appropriate article ready for consideration.

It was noted that the school would run to the Ballardvale treatment plant - but would not interfere with the housing development planned off Dascomb rd. by Realty Construction Co. That company paid for a Dascomb rd. sewer for an addition to the treatment plant. For this work, the firm received permission to tie in some new homes in the area.

The understanding that the proposal for the new school in no way interfere with this issue was expressed before the Selectmen and manager agreed to the article. It was explained that eventually, a major trunk line sewer in Andover street servicing much of West Andover.

Articles Ready For Meeting

Town meeting articles valued at $17,000, for utilities servicing the new school on Lovejoy rd., will be inserted in the annual warrant.

The Selectmen and Town Manager Thomas E. Duff decided to prepare the articles - $9,000 for a 12-inch water line and $48,000 for a sewer up Lovejoy from Dascomb rd. - although the School Building Committee has not yet had an opportunity to decide what sanitary facilities will be best suited for the school. It was explained that the Committee may find that an on-site plant is best for the disposal of sewage, or that a small pump should be used, with the sewer line being installed at a shallower depth than would otherwise be required. But if the decision is to have sewerage, then the Selectmen wanted to have the appropriate article ready for voter consideration.

It was noted that the sewage would run to the Ballardvale treatment plant - but would not interfere with the housing development planned off Dascomb rd. by the Realty Construction Co. That firm paid for a Dascomb rd. sewer, and for an addition to the treatment plant. For this work, the firm received permission to tie in some of its new homes in the area.

The understanding that the sewer proposal for the new school would in no way interfere with this promise was expressed before the Selectmen and manager agreed to the article. It was explained that, eventually, a major trunk line will have to be installed, connecting to the sewer in Andover st. and servicing much of West Andover.

blem that has existed there for years. Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, obviously desiring to take this step, had made plans for the work when Dascomb rd. was being repaired. And the proper facility has been left in that road, so that drainage from Bannister rd. can be tied in.

In the memo, Atty. Williams said old records and maps show that Bannister rd. once was used as a highway between the South Parish meeting house and the Tewksbury line, prior to the new location of Dascomb rd. in 1833. Various deeds and other data confirmed the finding, the memo stated.

It was noted that the town must take affirmative action to abandon a road - and that no such steps were taken by Andover.

Sensible Hunting Solution

We hope there will be united action on the proposal, so that after the March meeting, we all can be satisfied that hunting is being carefully controlled.

It seems absurd to have the manager — who is in direct charge of the municipal departments — work in one direction, only to have boards and persons he appoints going off on another tangent. If this is the case, Mr. Duff should move to correct this situation immediately.

The School Committee held its regular meeting Tuesday evening, and discussed several changes in the administrative conduct of the schools. One proposal would change the vacation schedule, so that there would be three one-week vacations in the next school year, and the two-week Christmas vaca-

The safety committee appointed by the Selectmen is circulating a petition asking the state to control trucks within the town, by directing them to use the By-Pass instead of coming through the center of the community. "If this seems an unusual situation for an organized group of sportsmen, it is an effort by the club to recognize its responsibility to the civic, as well as recreation organization. The town has been plagued by numerous and increasing complaints over the last few years, of hunters who do not consider the of the property and careless in their observation of existing laws regarding hunting. The Club has been careful to determine that none of the violations among their members, and to point out any known exceptions.

Lundgren Funeral Home Inc.

10 ELM STREET

ANDOVER, MASS.

Dear friends,

It has been our privilege to serve members of nearly all religious organizations. Some require certain specific details in connection with the funeral service. We are familiar with these requirements. Also we have had many personal requests bearing upon the nature of the funeral service.

We consider these matters highly important. In most instances, they represent the wishes of the deceased. We respect these wishes, always.

Respectfully,

Donald E. Lundgren

Produces
Displays

During the summer, nature puts on a series of spectacular shows unrivaled in any theatre along the straw hat circuit.

Arching rainbows, flaming sunsets, and shimmering northern lights thrill you with their grandeur and leave you wondering where the blazing colors come from to make these extravaganzas of the sky.

According to Boston's Museum of Science, these sky shows are staged by the interaction of sunlight and the ocean of air surrounding our earth.

The Museum's Hayden Planetarium lecturer, Walter N. Webb, says that sunlight is made up of a mixture of colors, as can easily be seen by watching a sunray pass through a glass prism. The prism separates the white light into a spectrum of seven rainbow colors, ranging from the longer wave lengths of red to the shorter wave lengths of blue and violet.

In traveling through the earth's atmosphere, sunlight is scattered by tiny gas molecules and dust particles. The shorter blue waves of light bend or scatter more generously across the sky than the others, giving us the familiar blue daytime sky.

Webb says this scattering process is much like ocean waves hitting a harbor piling. When a low rolling swell strikes the piling, it's only a little disturbed. On the other hand, short rippling waves hitting the same obstacle splash and break up considerably. By the same token, the long waves of light pass through the air relatively unaffected by gas molecules, while the shorter blue waves are scattered across the sky.

The same thing that makes the sky look blue in the daytime also makes the sun look red at sunset. As the sun lowers toward the horizon, its slanting rays have to travel a much longer distance through the atmosphere. By the time they reach your eye, so many of the shorter waves have been scattered out that mostly just the longer red and orange waves remain. Of all the light waves penetrating the air at sunset time, the red waves get to your eye "fastest with the mostest", their brilliant colors reflected by the clouds and dust in the sky.

Placing a glass prism in a ray of sunlight to see the separate colors is pretty much what happens to produce a rainbow. In the sky, raindrops are substituted for the glass.

Each drop acts as a tiny prism, breaking up the sun's rays into their spectral colors. The bow results from light entering and leaving each raindrop at the same angle.

If there is a single primary bow present, sunlight enters the drop, is reflected once from the inside wall, and leaves in the direction of the observer. When there are two bows, the fainter secondary one is caused by light bouncing off the inside wall of the drop twice. Once in a while, a third bow develops due to three internal reflections within the raindrop.

If you see a rainbow in the afternoon, it means the western sun is shining on a storm already over and passing to the east; if you see a rainbow in the morning, it means the eastern sun is shining on an approaching storm. Thus, there's a lot of truth to the old saying: "Rainbow at morning, sailor's warning; rainbow at night, sailor's delight."

Of all the colorful sky displays, the aurora borealis or northern lights is perhaps the most dramatic and awe-inspiring.

First, a glow or band is seen over the northern horizon. Soon the light breaks up into rays and streamers, shooting upwards. Sometimes a shifting and pulsating drapery with brilliant colors is formed and, as the display spreads upwards, a corona or halo appears overhead.

Auroras are believed to be caused by electrically charged particles coming from flares or explosions on the sun. Colliding with gases in the upper atmosphere (60 to 600 miles high), these high-speed particles cause the atoms in the air to emit light and glow - just as a neon sign lights up when an electric discharge passes through the thin gas in its tubes.

ASSOCIATION RUNS
BEHIND LAST YEAR

Friday, Dec. 30, the Christmas Seal Campaign conducted by the Essex County Health Association in 31 communities in the county, including Andover, had reached a total of $66,850.19, according to Charles W. Lowrie, treasurer of the Association.

This represents a $2,499.57 decrease from the comparable date of the campaign last year. The only communities showing an increase are Essex, Groveland, Nahant, Rowley, Salisbury, and Topsfield.

In order to have sufficient funds to carry on an adequate program of work for 1961, the Association is reminding all those persons who have not yet done so that it is not too late to mail in a contribution.

In making the progress report Mr. Lowrie stated, "It is even more important than ever before that the tuberculosis associations carry on their program of education, tuberculin testing, chest X-rays, rehabilitation, medical education and research to hold the gains that have already been made in eradicating tuberculosis."

HAVE A COLD?

Is there anyone who doesn't know:

That there is no cure for a cold; that there is no reliable preventive measure for a cold; that there are few "specifics" that relieve symptoms of a cold? Unless complications arise, a cold cures itself. So before you contribute to the 300-odd millions of dollars being spent annually on over-the-counter cold medicines, consult your doctor as to their value, says The Medical Foundation.

When you catch cold, follow these old and simple suggestions:

1. Remain at home if possible and try not to pass on the virus to

Pits Threaten Water Supply

Protection of the water supply has become a major worry of officials of the town, in the face of three gravel pits requests near Hargetts Pond, plus the excavation for Route 495 itself.

The problem has become more acute because the state has ruled that the town can not rule against the pits on the grounds that they may pollute the water.

On the other hand, if water pollution takes place, those responsible for the condition can be required to bear the cost of a remedy. Water Supt. Donald Bassett has a writing, informed the town manager and Selectmen of the problem confronting him, and suggests that at least one of the three requests be turned down, if this is possible.

Bassett said the most objectionable of the pits sites is a seven-acre lot very close to the stilling basin, recently installed by the state.
